Course description

In today's education, teachers face the challenge of cultivating essential soft skills among their students, while the new demand for mastering AI tools is more pressing than ever.

Communication, Collaboration, Critical Thinking, and Creativity (4Cs) are critical skills to navigate this new present where AI is part of our daily lives.

This course directly addresses the need for teachers to equip themselves with effective AI tools to foster 4Cs development and active learning.

This course will provide educators with the essential skills to merge Artificial Intelligence (AI) and learning, through a storytelling activity.

Participants will gain insights into this innovative approach to enhance their teaching methods and to empower students with the 4Cs - ultimately creating a dynamic and engaging learning environment.

Throughout the course, participants will engage in a series of activities designed to integrate Artificial Intelligence (AI) in the classroom, providing teachers with practical tools and ideas to personalize learning experiences.

Furthermore, educators will delve into the art of storytelling, exploring narrative techniques that not only captivate students but also stimulate critical thinking and learning. Real stories will be created, allowing participants to experiment with the principal AI tools available.

By the end of the course, participants will emerge with a transformative set of competencies. Educators will possess a comprehensive toolkit to cultivate Communication, Collaboration, Critical Thinking, and Creativity with their students.

Having practiced various AI tools, teachers will enhance their instructional methods, catering to diverse learning styles and needs.

Moreover, the art of storytelling will enable teachers of any subject area to build deeper connections with their students, inspiring a genuine appreciation for the subject matter.

Ultimately, educators will leave the course equipped to empower their students with invaluable 4Cs, preparing them for an ever-evolving world.

Learning outcomes

The course will help the participants to:

- Get to know the main AI tools available;
